The 2023 AUSii Energy Transition Symposium hosted by AACCC Texas will focus on "Addressing Current Energy Transition Issues - Green Fuel and Decarbonization". The afternoon program brings together experts from across the industry discussing the latest trends and innovations in the field, providing valuable insights and guidance for individuals and organizations looking to stay on the cutting edge of the industry.

Throughout the symposium, attendees will hear from industry leaders who are at the forefront of the transition to sustainable energy. You will learn about the latest breakthroughs in green fuel technology - such as biofuels and green hydrogen - and how these innovations are transforming the energy landscape.

We will also be discussing the decarbonization of traditional energy sources and the challenges and opportunities associated with this process, including the latest carbon capture and storage technologies, and innovative approaches to reducing emissions from the transportation and manufacturing sectors.

WHY ATTEND?

Whether you're a researcher, a policy maker, or an industry professional, the AUSii Energy Transition Symposium is the perfect opportunity to connect with peers, share insights and ideas, and stay on top of the latest trends and developments in the field.

Don't miss out on this unique opportunity to be a part of the energy transition movement and help shape the future of sustainable energy!
